

CHOOSING APPAREL

SLEEVED

Jackets with sleeves provide more coverage and more warmth. This style works well in really cold temps, for short-haired dogs who need a little help staying warm, or for long-haired dogs who get snowballs that form on their underside.

NON-SLEEVED

For dogs with a varied shape (e.g. broader shoulders, thicker chest, neck, or legs), jackets without sleeves can sometimes be easier to fit. And since they use buckles instead of zippers, they're easy to put on – great for aging or squirmy dogs.
